

Shenzhen's Business Zones

The southern Chinese city of Shenzhen built more skyscrapers than any other Chinese city in 2016. In fact, Shenzhen built more skyscrapers than the United States and Singapore combined.

Our commercial analytics shows that the city's 11 new skyscrapers were all built in just two of Shenzhen's three main business trade zones.

The heat map also shows the gradual drift in Shenzhen's commercial activity towards Futian and Nanshan districts, away from the older Luohu district. The recently finished Line 11 connecting the western manufacturing hub in Baoan district to Futian and Nanshan will only further accelerate the drift.
